FOREWORD

The purpose of an Annual is to present an accurate and life-like picture of the School and Class activities, a picture that will last for many years. We of the Staff have tried to carry out this purpose to the best of our ability. We wish to thank all those who made the path a little easier, and to beg the forgiveness of everyone for the imperfections that exist in our work.

Administration Department

THE Administrative Department functions just like other organizations. It determines the course of action and correlates the activities of the departments to conform to this plan.

The Sharon Board of Education is the governing body. The Superintendent of Schools is their executive representative. They determine the rate of taxation and control the expenditures. They plan new buildings and supervise the operation of those in use. They determine salaries and hire the teachers.

In addition to working on these problems, the Superintendent has active charge of all Sharon schools.

The administration head of Sharon High School is the Principal. Working with him are the Vice-Principal and office force.

The operations fall into several groups. First, a curriculum must be planned which meets the demands of the State Department, college entrance requirements, and local vocational needs. Four courses are offered so each individual may find the preparation he needs toward his life work.

Then the pupils have to be assigned to classes. This work is complete when school opens in September. During the year constant supervision must be given to the operation of the school.

Discipline must constantly be maintained. This means more than meeting unpleasant situations. It means planning in such a way that the normal boy or girl will be happy in the school life. It means creating an atmosphere of co-operation between the teacher and pupil. This attitude is helped by the guidance of the pupil into work for which he is fitted and from which he can secure practical results.

Adequate records are concrete evidence of a pupil's accomplishments. Grades are put on file so one may secure a record of his high school work. It is gradually being recognized that grades alone are not a sufficient index to one's worth so a character record is compiled. This is valuable when a recommendation is desired.

Attendance records are reported to the State Department each month. An accurate history of school affairs is compiled from newspaper clippings. More comprehensive records are being demanded so an accurate picture of each pupil can be given. This should be considered thoughtfully since a good record is a valuable asset.

Thus briefly it has been shown that the Administrative Department is a sort of mainspring to the entire organization. The efficiency with which its work in done, determines to a considerable extent, the degree of success of our school.

English Department

The thing that differentiates men from beasts is man's ability to exchange his ideas. This ability forms the basis of civilization. Without it we could have neither history, science, mathematics, nor any of the higher arts nor could our civilization have progressed from the state of the beast. It is one of the chief aims of the English Department therefore, to correlate the English with the history, science, mathematics, and all the other departments.

The course in English is so arranged as to produce a progressive improvement in our ability to convey our thoughts to others by both oral and written English and to enjoy and appreciate the thoughts of others as expressed to us either orally or in written form.

Having completed such a course we should be well prepared for the very important part the use of our mother tongue will play in our future undertakings and toward understanding the civilization of the Past, developing the civilization of our own age, and setting down the fundamentals of that civilization in writing for the use of future generations.

Little did the ancient Egyptians think, when they buried their kings in magnificent tombs surrounded by all the riches and culture of the time, that they were storing up a section of their lives for us to uncover thousands of years later.

Little do most of us realize that we to-day, in our newspapers, our books, our motion pictures, and our news-reels, are storing up the account of our lives for those who will live a thousand years from now.

A history student in Sharon High has the advantage of a well-planned course and well-trained teachers. The course is arranged with regard to the chronological order of history and the development of the student's mind, the more complex parts of history being left for the older student.

The freshman is given the opportunity, through a half year of vocational civics, to choose an occupation and to shape his high school education toward that choice. A half year of Ancient and Medieval history gives the freshman a background for further study.

As a sophomore he watches, in Modern European history, the rise of democratic governments from the despotic kingdoms.

The junior traces the developments of his own great republic from thirteen weak colonies.

And finally the senior, through Problems of Democracy, learns to live in accordance with the laws of his country and humanity.

Mathematics Department

Without stopping to consider, the average high school student may think that he is being troubled with something new when he worries over an especially difficult proposition in geometry or a catchy algebra problem. Perhaps he would be surprised to learn that the subject is nothing new at all but is really over three million years old. Yet that is a true statement, for written records have been found in Egypt showing that the people of that country had a wide knowledge of mathnematics, even as early as the third millenuim B. C. Ever since that time it has been increasing in importance, if such is possible, until to-day there are few people who realize its vast importance in the progress of our civilization. All our modern day machinery and conveniences are indirect results of the study of mathematics. It is interesting to note also that while we could not have mathematcs, on any large scale, without written English, at the same time we could not have written English without mathematics. For written English is dependent upon chemistry for its life, and chemistry is dependent upon mathematics for its birth.

Many students in Sharon High are taking a course in mathematics, and we feel sure that if the thoroughness of the instruction has anything to do with it, we shall some day sooner or later produce a second Pythagoras or an Einstein.

Science Department

One of the most interesting departments of our school is the one devoted to the teaching of science. In the study of general science, biology, chemistry and physics, is found much educational entertainment and instruction.

General science is a combination of the other sciences, giving an elementary study of biology, chemistry and physics.

Since a majority of high school students do not enter college, a course in general science is desirable, and practically mandatory.

Biology lends itself thoroughly to the scientific methods and the orderly examination of facts and conclusions based on these facts.

It endeavors to place the student in the midst of life, and when given a number of fundamental principles, he can then apply them to problems of life.

The aim of chemistry is to show the relation of chemistry to everyday lift without neglecting the prinicples upon which the science is based. Thus the relation of chemistry of water purification, agriculture, paints, and textiles is emphasized.

Physics deals with sound, light, energy, electricty, and mechanics. It is in the field of physics that some of the important advances of science have been made in late years. For this reason the subject is well-fitted for students who enjoy science.

Commercial Department

For the past six years the Commercial Department has been an organization of Sharon High School. It is no longer looked upon as an isolated department but is now just as much a part of the school as is the Mathematics or Science Department.

A number of the Commercial students have been helpful in making mimeographed copies of tests and in doing other stenographical work for the various members of the faculty.

Each year more and more students, realizing the advantage of having a knowledge of Commecial subjects, enroll in the Commercial course. A great number of the Academic students take one or more Commercial subjects, such as typewriting, economics, or salesmanship.

The Commercial Department has made a good showing for our school in county and state contests. The 1929 county contest was won by the Sharon team. The examinations for this contest were made out by Grove City College.

Language Department

There are many cultural and practical advantages to be obtained from the study of a foreign language. Besides this, it is convenient to be able to understand foreign phrases that occur frequently in almost everyone's experience. The learning of another language means the development of the knowledge and proper use of our own tongue. This advantage is probably the most important one because no high school education is complete without a comprehensive knowledge of the English language.

An effort is being made to show the interdependence of the langauges and their relation to other subjects such as science and history. The study of these languages is made very interesting because the customs and characteristics of the foreign peoples are included in the various courses. Also, each department sponsors a club which stimulates students' interest in whatever language it promotes.

For these reasons, Sharon High School offers courses in three different languages: French, Spanish, and Latin. There is a four-year course in Latin, a two-year course in French, and a two-year course in Spanish. Out of over a thousand students enrolled at present in the school, about eight hundred are enrolled in the Language Department.

Office Department

Worthy of praise but seldom the recipients of such, the vital cogs of Sharon High School daily turn the wheels of progress and the school year. Although our personal contact with both of our office forces is negligible, we must realize that they are daily on duty, working for the betterment of our school.

Let us visit Mr. Gamble's office. We find here two able and willing workers who take care of the entire Sharon school system, including some things pertaining directly to the high school. Miss Sarver and Miss Gibbons keep a record of the grades of every student from the time he enters school until he graduates from high school; they order all supplies and keep a record of their distribution; they issue and record employment certificates; they receive tuition money; and they keep a record of the cafeteria funds and the disbursement of them.

Presenting:

Adele Sarver, Secretary ..... Fredonia Institute, B.S.
Marion Gibbons, Stenographer ..... Seton Hill, A.B.

We will now cross the hall and visit the heart of the high school. Busy? Yes indeed, but they are very obliging and will explain. "In this office we keep a record of grades, as well as a personal record of every student; book records for various funds, such as the Mirror, Athletics and Interscholastics are kept; also correspondence and subject files are cared for; publicity of the high school is given to newspapers; school mail and banking are handled; and eligibility lists are sent to other schools. We also handle excuses and tardy marks."

Special Departments

LIBRARY

The library is centrally located on the second floor and is the most complete high school library in this vicinity. In all there are thirty-five hundred volumes, including fiction, science, and history. Current magazines for reference work and pleasure reading are also available. Students are quick to take advantage of the opportunities offered and hundreds of them use the library daily. Finding books is simplified by the Dewey Decimal System.

Grace McClenahan, Drexel Summer Sessions, Librarian

MUSIC

The Music Department, which includes Band, Orchestra, Chorus and special courses in string, reed and brass instruments, is a department which benefits the entire school. The training enables the members of these organizations to spend their spare time profitably. The others as listeners benefit also.

David Rees, Glamorgan School of Music, Wales

MANUAL TRAINING

An important department in our school is the Manual Training Department. The shop is well equipped, both with hand tools and machines.

Manual Training not only teaches the student to turn out neat and strong articles of furniture and become skillful in the use of tools but it also builds his character, developing valuable traits of perseverance and neatness.

Howard Gilmore, Genesco State Normal

MECHANICAL DRAWING

The purpose of the Mechanical Drawing Department is to prepare students for positions immediately after graduation and to enable them to take up engineering. This is accomplished through practical problems in prospective, isometric and orthographic drawing.

Leonard Stegailov, Edinboro State Teachers College

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The aim of the Physical Education Department is to build a strong, sound body coordinated with a clean, quick mind. Due to lack of time and equipment, little can be done in school and the student must devote some of his spare time to his own development.

The fall and winter months are devoted to basketball, while the spring months are taken up with track, baseball and other games.

David Stewart, Grove City College, B.S.

The aim and program of the girls' department are much the same as the boys'. However, lighter forms of exercise are taken up with the intention of developing physical grace and strength.

Dorothy Weller, Slippery Rock Teachers College

COOKING

Another department not found in all h'gh schools is the Domestic Science Department. A course in cooking extends over a period of two years with one recitation weekly. In th's time the student is taught, besides cooking methods, meal planning, in order to secure the h'ghest food values and the best scientific diet at the lowest cost. The cooking instructor is also the person who so capably manages the cafeteria.

Grace Eccles, Rochester Economic Institute

SEWING

Sewing, like cooking, is a two-year subject. The sewing room is well equipped, but, due to lack of time, the work is limited. The first year is devoted to fundamental stitches, seams, hems and construction of garments. During the second year the work is along the same lines, though naturally, more advanced.

Esther Weir, Ohio University, B. S.

ART

The purpose of the art department is to develop the talents of the students, to enable them to recognize good art, and to acquaint them with the work of the masters. The work is varied, includ'ng lettering, poster-making, designing, picture-study, figure drawing, and handicrafts. The art students help the school by making posters for athletic and music-literary contests, plays, and other activities within the school.

Elizabeth Sykes, Allegheny College, A.B., Graduate Cleveland School of Art

HEALTH

The health of the students of Sharon High School is well cared for. Each student receives a medical inspection once during the year. The school nurse keeps all records and attends to the follow-up work attempting to have all defects discovered and remedied.

"Laycock, Murphy, Biggin, McCamant, Claypool, Warren—"

"Wrong!"

"How?"

"Biggin, Claypool, then Laycock, b, c, d, e, you know."

"Rot. Why not begin with the whole class, then?"

"Not a bad idea, Henry; they are all outstanding."

"Amon, Benbow, Chester, Douds. How is that?"

"Not enough room. That is only one-quarter of the Interscholastic team."

"Right. But, still class histories generally are a list of names."

"Always exceptions to the rule; perhaps this class is."

"Exceptions? Good. I'll cut all the names, block the highways of Culture, break the painful stairs of Education, blast the hills of Success, and hang the best class material in the school out in the sun."

"Oh, come, come, Henry; don't be a radical."

"I like it. What does a cluster of names mean, after all? There may be a fellow lurking in our class whom we will never mention, and yet he will go out and in his own quiet way succeed. Perhaps we will never hear of him again and yet he will be the biggest success of us all. Perhaps there is a genius who today is nothing but who tomorrow will be the Lincoln, the Gladstone, or the Edison of the Age."

"Quite true, but as the twig is bent so inclineth the tree."

"Certainly, but supposing I do make a football list. Biggin, Deems, Ferrario, Houghton, Kopen, McGowan, Webb——

There—a plain list, nothing more, nothing less. It doesn't even mention the bumps and bruises and the sour taste of masked failures that perhaps they have experienced. Unless we have crawled into clammy, sweaty jerseys, unless we have broken shoe-laces and growled at the managers for them, unless we have slopped out into a real wet November puddle, unless we have actually done those things our very selves, a list is a most inanimate and flat thing."

"Oh, certainly, Henry, but most of us have studied—there are honor students."

"Quite so—Allen, Bolotin, Benbow, Jones, Haney, Mallett. That is just a list, too. Admittedly they have brilliant minds but so do crimina—"

"Henry, Henry, land sakes, omit that last part."

"All right, out it goes. But just by reading that list do we see all the hours of conscientious toil that were necessary to place those students on the plain they occupy? Do we see all the hot nights when Algebraic signs just seemed to float around in a pool of perspiration, nights when they wondered whether it was Hamlet or Euclid who perfected the Pythagorean Theorem?"

"Melodrama, eh, Henry?"

"As you like."

"Four years of melodrama, then, Henry."

"Wrong. Four years of school. Four years of rising, four years in learning to appreciate the discipline in one's own school. Four years in discerning that there are millions of human beings in this world and that one little ego-complex is just one of the tinest ego's in the bucket. Four years in realizing that there is more in poetry than rhymed words and more in Shakespeare than mere scenes."

"Well, well, Henry!"

"Experience, you know, keeps a dear school. Nevertheless, even with all experience has taught there is still something lacking. Complete yet not complete, full, yet not full.. Do you understand me?"

"Obscurely, Henry. I believe you are being purposely ambiguous."

"I mean that which is embodied in the old, old saw."

"Yes—?"

"'Hast thou found thy Mecca,
Hast attained thy Goal?
Hast thou found thy Mecca,
Hast saved thy soul?'

Now do you understand me? Full, even though it is filled with a fullness which will never be poured."

Class Poem

By Sara Haney

As I behold with youthful, wondering eyes
The vastness of the world which lies ahead,
Whose bosom swells with secrets of the earth,
Whose honor lies within the spacious skies,
My eager hands stretch forth for want of life
For want of fame by means of paths untrod.
But like a lonely pilot out at sea—
A sense of fear enabled by the strife,
Creeps slowly toward the struggler so forlorn,
But 'ere it nears too close, the pilot smiles
And turns his wheel to course the eastern shore,
The break of dawn, the soothing, quiet morn.

For you, my dear, who are so young and small,
In search of knowledge, faith, and hope and truth,
In this world of opportunity,
Awaits a place for you, for me, for all.

A Brief History of The Mirror

By Frank Mallett

It was back in 1912 when the Mirror, as such, got its start. There had been other publications, chiefly in newspaper form, but the first Mirror, as a literary and news magazine combined (as it is yet) appeared in 1912. The oldest issue in the files is Vol. I, No. 2, the second published. This is dated March, 1912, and contains twenty-four pages. There were in this issue a few stories, and four departments, Athletics, Exchange, Society and Class Notes. Under the Athletics we discover that the Basketball team lost to Pittsburgh, but beat Grove City. The track outlook, it says, is good. The Editor was Laurence Jewell. In one of the editorials, the organization of a Debate team was suggested.

The next old copy we can find comes six years later, Vol. VII, No. 1, and is dated October, 1918. We find that the intervening years have improved and enlarged the magazine. The whole tone of the write-ups and literary work is very martial, as it was published during the great war. On the first page is a poem urging the support of the fourth Liberty Loan, while further back is an account of a parade for the same purpose. Even the jokes concern soldiers and their doings. Among the advertisers we find some who are still with us, including McDowell's Bank, Printz's, and Shontz and Myers.

In the next five years we find little change, although there was some improvement from year to year. The December, 1920 issue was the largest monthly issue published, as it had seventy-two pages. In the November, 1921 issue we find a prognostication on the sport page that has certainly come true. It was, "Watch out for Booth."

The high school was moved to the new building in the fall of 1924, so that the last six years might well be called the New High School era. In fact, the December, 1924 number was dedicated to the new building and contains a number of views of the various rooms and laboratories. It was about this time, too, that the change to the two-column page was made. Some of the older readers may remember the time when the reading matter was printed in one column all the way across the page. The next important change, probably, was made last year, when a permanent cover design was adopted.

The annuals were originally very little different from the monthly editions, and were in fact, "Senior Numbers" of the monthly. However, their contents came to conform more and more with standards laid down for year books, until, in 1925, the size was changed to the present large, "college" size. We now find our annual very different from the first ones, with two-color printing, much more decorative and elaborate art work, and more pictures. The next step may be the choosing of a separate staff for the publishing of the annual.

In the first issue, and in the most recent, we find this motto, "A True Reflection of Sharon High School." In every one of its nineteen years of existence, the Mirror has aimed to reflect the life of the high school, and, what is more, to guide the school spirit into proper channels. The Mirror has stood up for losing teams and has congratulated winners, and has done the one no more willingly than the other. It has supported all activities. It has made a glorious name for itself and we of the Staff of 1930 hope that we have carried this name to greater heights for the honor of the school, just as the other activities have made the name of Sharon High known and respected all over the State.

Junior Class History

By Hazel Phillips and Helen Louise Taylor

Given: The Class of '31.

To Prove: It's the best all-around class ever produced in Sharon High School.

Proof: In the three years' time:
Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior.

STATEMENTS	REASONS
(1) The Interscholastic teams won the County Championship for two successive years.	(1) Many members of the Class of '31 were on the team for: (a) piano (b) violin (c) essay (d) declamation (e) oration (f) extemporaneous speaking (g) recitation (h) debate (i) plays
(2) Sharon High won the Football County Championship for '28 and '29.	(2) Because the Class of '31 produced many stars who caught the spirit of Sharon High.
(3) The basketball teams brought home the bacon for '29 and '30.	(3) Because again the Clas of '31 was extremely well represented.
(4) Our school is and has been in an excellent condition and has a high standing for good conduct.	(4) Because many of the Monitor posts are and were held by members of the Class of '31.
(5) All plays that have been given at Sharon High School for the last three years have been huge successes.	(5) Because at least one person representing the Class of '31 participated in each.
(6) Sharon High has gained a reputation for hearty cheering.	(6) This has been made possible by our first-class cheer leaders, who are no other than members of the Class of '31.
(7) The Mirror has been a good magazine for a number of years, but it has been better during the last three years.	(7) Because the Mirror is reaping some of the vast store of knowledge of the Class of' 31.
(8) No other school has more harmony than Sharon High School.	(8) Because a '31 may be tagged to a goodly number of the Band and Orchestra.
(9) Note the success of the clubs of Sharon High.	(9) The Class of '31 has lent their support to them.
(10) We're the pride and joy of all our teachers.	(10) Nowhere can better pupils be found—just ask our teachers.
(11) The Class of '31 is the best all around class.	(11) Q. E. D.
(12) When bigger and better things are done around Sharon High, the Class of '31 ought to do them.	(12) Ought means must!

The Class of '32

By Herbert Nye

One September day old Father Time took his twenty-eight-year old son, Twentieth Century, to his garden, the Garden of Sharon High School. There he planted a small tree. "That", he said, "is the Class of '32. It is very small now, but in four years it will join those full grown trees." He pointed to a large cluster of trees in one end of the garden, which were labeled "The Alumni of S. H. S."

Another September day, a year later, the father and son again went into the garden. They paused beside the Class of '32. "What do those branches signify?" inquired Twentieth Century.

"Those," replied Father Time, "are the branches of school activities. They represent athletics, such as football, basketball and track, and the various other activities. Last year those branches just made their beginning on this tree, but by the end of this term they will be much larger."

Twentieth Century is now thirty years old. One day recently he and Father Time again wandered through the garden. "See," declared Father Time, "my prophecy has come true. The branches of the Class of '32 have grown much larger during the past year. The football branch has the most leaves on it. See, the names of the players are on them. They include Petrecca, Wilson, Thompson, Stewart, Sigler, Penfield, Bailey, McCarthy and Baer.

"The basketball branch does not have so many leaves now, but there will be more next year. The leaves this year are Wilson and Wieson. The girls' basketball branch has four leaves marked Curry, McQuiston, Davidson, and Tarr.

"By another two years this tree will be the largest and best one which I will have ever planted. It and the members of the Class of '32 will be an honor to the gory of the Garden of Sharon High."

This prophecy will also come true!

Characters—Mr. Smith (Professor from Grove City College)—Proud Freshmen.

Place—On special train from Sharon to scene of State Championship basketball game.

Time—March (The latter part).

Mr. Smith (To proud Freshman)—"Where are you in school, my boy?"

Proud Freshman (With much defiance)—"I'm a Freshman at Sharon High School. We have a mighty fine class, too!"

Mr. Smith (Very much inteersted)—"Tell me about your class."

Proud Freshman (With sophisticated air which really belongs to the Sophomores)—"It's a long story."

Mr. Smith (Getting into a more comfortable position)—"Go right ahead."

Proud Freshman—"Well, Mr. Smith, in the first place we have a very large class numbering about four hundred students and fifteen or more Freshman teachers.

"But it is always the individual who counts, so I will tell you about a few particular ones.

"On the football squad there were John Hannah, Dan Croft, Jimmy Gibbons, and Nick Hardy. They all looked promising.

"Then when basketball season came along Coach Dickerson kept John Hannah and Jimmy Gibbons. A few others were kept for a short time.

"Mary Louise Burgoon, Marj'y Davis, Edna Mae Richards, Doris King, Peg Polonus, Betty Lou McClenahan, and Josephine Masters were retained on the girls' basketball squad.

"Charles Hurford, William Barnes, and William Hickey proved valuable when Interscholastic time rolled around.

"Several Freshman boys helped out with the traffic squad, also.

"But as you might know the class of '33 has been helpful and cooperative with everything and everyone around Sharon High.

"Oh, by the way, they ——— ———————————."

But the conductor is shouting, "Philadelphia," and everyone is in a scramble, trying to get out of the train first and cheer Sharon High on!

Spe-Re-Wri

The Spe-Re-Wri Club of Sharon High School is the literary society organized mainly for the purpose of improving the speaking, reading, and writing ability of its members. Yet a no insignificant part of the object of the club is to foster friendship between the Sharon and Farrell High Schools. This is accomplished by each club entertaining the other at a dance during the year.

The membership of the club is limited to twenty-five seniors, twenty juniors, fifteen sophomores, and ten freshmen. The remainder of the applicants are put on a waiting list. Any vacancies occurring in the club are filled from this list according to class rank.

The Latin Club

The Latin Club which is composed of the members of the Junior and Senior Latin classes has enjoyed an unusually successful year, with a membership of 123.

The monthly programs have been of high order, both in their entertainment and in their eduactional features. At one of these programs, a set of picture slides, which were obtained from the Latin department of the University of Pittsburgh, were shown. These pictures showed the different specimens of Roman architecture still standing in Europe, some of which are in perfect condition.

The Latin Club enjoyed two swimming parties, and as a feature of the monthly programs has sponsored a Latin Glee Club of boys which is occasionally supplemented by a chorus of girls and a mixed chorus.

A new spirit of cooperation prevailed this year which promises a better and more interesting Latin Club for future years.

The Science Club

There are a number of very natural reasons why a Science Club should have its existence in the high school. In the first place such an institution is needed as an outlet for that indefiniable spirit of fellowship which exists among students of science. In the second place such an association is necessary in order to familiarize the student with details which are excluded from class discussion because of the lack of time. Finally such a club is valuable in combatting that tendency of a student to devote his entire attention to the pursuit of one phase of a science which he enjoys.

The Science Club attempts, by means of monthly meetings, to foster that spirit of comradeship, to allow students interested in one thing to associate with students interesed in another, that by an exchange of theories, the former may become interested in the pursuits of the latter and vice versa. Topics ranging from mechanics to electrons are discussed, experiments are performed, and the work of eminent scientists observed. Each student is bound to find something which interests him and impart something which interests others.

Without doubt many of the students of the school will find their vocations in the field of science and so naturally the science club is a decided advantage to them. Then, too, who knows, but that some of these students who today fill the personnel of our Science Club will some day be the Faradays, or the Einsteins who write complex theories for future generations to puzzle and worry over.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce

The members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce have had many enjoyable times during the year and have taken important parts in the social and business activities of the club.

The Junior Business World, our Commercial Department paper, has been very successful, and we express thanks to our faculty advisers, who have so kindly and untiringly helped us reach our goal for this year.

The purpose of the club is to prepare students to be efficient in future business activities. Many of the members have done types of work for the faculty and are thus trained for business life.

The faculty advisers responsible for our success are: Mr. Brandon, Miss Balon, Miss Hanrahan, Miss Filer, and Miss Gill.

The T. M. T. M., a worthy club
Of good old Sharon High School,
They're in for fun and lots of work,
They need no law or rule.

To further human interests,
That's their worthwhile aim,
To you and all their many friends,
They treat each one the same.

Programs planned and carried out
By helping one another,
By entertaining the valley friend,
The Junior and the Mother.

In the course of our club meetings,
A most interesting speaker,
Mr. Jones, who said that in ourselves
We find our greatest teacher.

He tells us that in high school days
The habits we acquire,
Control the later years of life
As flame bursts into fire.

He advises girls to teach themselves
A happiness within,
And that in turn will radiate
And everybody win.

The popularity of our club is
Due to those who help us through;

INTERSCHOLASTICS

The Interscholastic team for the school year 1929-30 met with the usual success. On December 13, 1929, the contest with Farrell was held and won by the Sharon contestants.

The absence of the essay was keenly felt, but the substitution of the two one-act plays provided an entertaining and appropriate conclusion for the contest.

The pupils participating in the contest held on December 13, and the teachers in charge and those assisting in the various events are as follows:

EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEAKING

John Duffy and Frederick Allen.
Alternates: Marshall Dann and Melania Maior.

ORATION

Elliott Jones and Betty Roberts.

DECLAMATION

Edward Letcher and William Boland.

RECITATION

Jane Chester and Ruth Cornwell.
Alternate: Martha Herbert.

PLAYS

Sara Haney, Dorothy Ogg, Irene Gill, Alice Benbow, Edward Burn, Robert Burn, Francis Powell, Frank Mallett, Craig McCoy, Peter Moyer, John Miklos.

Margaret Parke and Jane Chester.
Alternates: Helen McQuiston and Eleanor Cowles.

Alternates: Rose Mary May and William Barnes.

TEACHERS IN CHARGE AND ASSISTANTS

Miss McMullen, Miss Whieldon, Mrs. Roberts, Miss MacBride, Miss Stewart, Miss Armour, Miss Weller, Miss Eckles.

Traffic Squad

A shrill whistle, and the crowd surges across the street—another signal, the crowd stops and the traffic moves on its way.

The traffic squad insures safety for each of us, and day after day, rain or shine they fill their posts, doing the "high school world" a favor.

Mr. Rainey, the faculty adviser, and Captains Elliott Jones and George Siggins are to be complimented on their splendid work. Honor is also due to the rest of the squad—Edward Duffy, Henry Johns, Bob Sigler, Mark Pell, Charles Moore, Joe Duffy, Edward Caldwell, George Warner, and Paul Williams.

The Monitor System

Our monitor system, under the supervision of Mr. Irvine, has proved to be very efficient. Sharon High School has been complimented on the courtesy and consideration that monitors have shown to visitors and new comers to the buildings.

The monitors are appointed at the beginning of the year and serve during the entire term. For each period of the day there is a captain who is stationed at the middle entrance and whose duty it is to see that each monitor is at his post and doing his work properly. The support of the student body has been one of the main factors in making our monitor system a success.

MUSIC ~ DRAMATICS

The Orchestra

It may be safely said that the efficiency of an orchestra depends, in the first place upon the individual skill of each member, and in the second place upon the skill of each member in sinking his individual skill into a blended and harmonious whole. It is this essential blending which only too often causes one to lose sight of the individual in one's approval of the whole. In fact, in this age of radio, when the greatest symphony orchestra can be obtained by merely twisting a dial, this injustice is especially prevalent, until it seems that one begins to think of music as some unseen god who breathes hs melody suddenly into the air.

This is perhaps the reason that the members of our own orchestra do not appear so spectacular as the personnel of some of the other organizations. However, the zealous holding of an ideal, the unselfish faithfulness of each individual member is even more commendable for that reason.

The Band

"A blare of trumpets,
A ruffle of drums."

These sounds announce the presence of the High School Band. At football games, at rallies, at basketball games, it is the band which helps to supply that extra ounce of push needed to arouse the spirit of the teams. In short the band is a true section of our activities and shows the real spirit of Sharon High School.

Boys' Glee Club

Every Thursday morning one may see fifty young men making their way to the auditorium—the Boys' Glee Club is thriving. We knew it at Christmas time, when they very capably took their parts in the Cantata offered for assembly. Still later, we thoroughly enjoyed their singing and acting in the play, "The Virginian Romance."

The boys elected Eugene MacMillin as their president. The club has been made a success through the able guidance of our music instructor, Professor Reese.

The Girls' Glee Club

Time: Any Tuesday morning, Activities period.

Place: Auditorium of Sharon High School.

Characters: Professor Reese and the eighty girls of the Glee Club.

President Lillian Otte: The meeting will please come to order. Under the direction of Prof. Reese we will have our weekly singing hour.

Prof. Reese: Before we begin our practice I wish to congratulate and to thank the girls for their splendid cooperation throughout the year, and especially in preparing the Christmas cantata and the operetta, "A Virginian Romance."

President Lillian Otte: We realize that without your capable supervision we would have been unable to make such undertakings successful. We assure you that we have enjoyed every minute of the time spent in practicing with you.

Prof. Reese: It is very kind of you to say that. Now, let us begin our singing. Turn to page 97, please.

(The practice proceeds).

"GRUMPY"

The Senior Class successfully presented their class play, "Grumpy", on May 21, 1929. The play was under the drection of Miss Elizabeth McMullen.

"Grumpy" proved to be a distinct novelty and a sure cure for blues. Those that were in the cast and those that assisted in the presentation of the play are to be highly commended.

The cast was as follows:

Mrs. McClaren	Clara Carley
Virginia (Mr. Bullivant's granddaughter)	Ruth Wagoner
Dr. McClaren	Thomas Dougherty
Kible (Mr. Jarvis' valet)	Leroy Donahue
Susan	Jessie Brown
Dawson	Albert Becht
Ernest Heron (Mr. Bullivant's grand nephew)	Edward Owen
Mr. Bullvant (Grumpy)	Floyd Davis
Merridew	James Wallace
Mr. Jarvis	Robert Madden
Ruddock (Mr. Bullivant's valet)	Raymond Brown
Mr. Valentine Wolf	Bernard Kusminsky

The music was furnished by the High School Orchestra under the direction of Professor David Reese.

Northwestern Gridiron Champs

Just as is the fate of all great events—wars, dynasties, explorations, and contests—the 1929 football season of Sharon High School has become a thing of the past. Yet it remains as a glorious achievement in our school history and in the minds of the student body; a thing to be ustly proud of, for few seasons have been more successful. The nineteen-twenty-nine squad has lived up to previous records and has retained Sharon High's honored position in the athletic world, since the victorious season was marred only by a tie.

One notable fact was that our schedule covered eleven instead of the conventional ten games. Other than county frays and the usual district foes, our warriors competed with the Monaca High School team and with the John Adams team of Cleveland. However, neither proved to be our downfall.

The defeat that we handed Rayen High stood out above all other victories. For nineteen years no Sharon eleven had been able to win over this school. This fact made that conflict the high-light of the season.

Farrell, Sharpsville, and others all fell before the skill of Coach Stewart's powerful machine. However, Grove City, our important county rival, succeeded in holding the score even. While this made Sharon and Grove City joint champions of Mercer county, Sharon received the championship title for Northwestern Pennsylvania, due to our season's triumphs.

This admirable record was due, in a large measure, to the unremitting efforts of Coach David Stewart, who came here last year and made the 1928 aggregation the great team that it was. That he did better this season has been proved by the squad's record. Mr. Stewart was assisted by his former pupil of the Massillon gridiron, Mr. Ted Rosenberg, and what a pair they made.

However, the coaches were not the only great factors. Each one of the players, imbued with the good old Sharon High never-say-die spirit, did his part in hoisting the Orange and Black above the rest. Among these warriors are the "big four"—Hardy, Pryts, Murphy, and Deems—in the backfield; with Captain Crompton, Biggin, Ferrario, McGowan, Matchok, Harrer, Quinn, and McCamant on the line. Howard, Laycock, Richardson, and Houghton were able substitutes. Joe Hardy, our quarterback, was rated as one of the best triple-threats in the state, while many of the others were no mean players. Remember those long passes Don McCamant gobbled in and those precious yards "Special Delivery" Pete Pryts put across? Yet these boys would not have been able to give their best if there had not been someone to look after their equipment. Franklin Webb, manager, took care of this well.

This team was a great one in material, coaching, and spirit, and one of which we can be justly proud. Take a look at this:

State Champions

At last the coveted trophy is won! Through four long years Coach Dickerson and his boys, and Sharon High school, have planned and worked for this final achievement. Twice they came within striking distance only to be beaten in the finals of the state play. The third time they were downed by the fast Duquesne quintet, while making a heroic bid for a place in the finals. The first of this March saw over four hundred schools in the early tournaments, but only one was to occupy the place of honor. Through the splendid skill and efforts of the boys, the excellent coaching of our mentor, and the unquenchable spirit of Sharon High, it is our team and school which holds this pinnacle to-day.

Most of the players on this memorable squad will graduate this year. They will never have the opportunity to fight under the Orange and Black again. But they have done their work well. Several of them have participated in at least two of the other heroic efforts to make the goal and now, after all their work and hope, this victory is a fitting consummation of their basketball careers.

This was perhaps our last chance at the State Championship for many years. It is not often that an aggregation of such seasoned veterans as these is assembled. With only two lettermen back, Coach Dickerson will be faced with the task of rebuilding his team next year. However, we hope that some future squad will again attain this posttion for which the 1930 quintet so bravely fought.

The Orange and Black players were hindered the first part of the season by the fact that neither of their captains were in the game. Bud Laycock suffered a knee injury in football practice and Jim Murphy was out with a sore leg. However, as the competition was not particularly keen, we came through on top every time except at Farrell. For nine years our team had not beaten a Steeler aggregation on their own floor, and this year the Farrellites were just as detemined as in previous years. As a result they defeated us 21-14, preserving their own winning streak. This string of victories eventually developed into a record, with fifteen straight wins, over Sharpsville's previous mark of fourteen. Other than Farrell, Bellevue was our only stiff opposition. One by one we had downed Ellwood City, Greenville, Grove City, Warren, Sharpsville and Bellevue, but our next door rivals were a block to our success. After this loss, Sharon enjoyed victory again; and to climax their season our boys defeated the Steelers 33-25 in the most hotly contested battle of the season, here in the gym. Peabody High of Pittsburgh, Cleveland East, and Akron South were the final chapter to this successful season.

Farrell's tough competition in the regular season's play put doubt in the minds of our fans as to the outcome of the Mercer County tournament. However, our fears were goundless, and the Yellow Jackets defeated the Mill City boys 22-18 in the final game of the round. The "wildcats" then proceeded to wipe out all opposition in the Northwestern tourney and overcame the Erie East 29-21, to win this title. New Kensington, winner of District seven, was our next foe. They were highly spoken of in their section, but were unable to cope with the Sharonites. That made us Western Champs.

The tall Lewistown squad was swamped at Pittsburgh to the tune of 34-24. The spirit ran highest when over a thousand local rooters followed our team to an 18-14 win over Lower Merion in Philadelphia, thus sewing up the State Championship.

but were unable to cope with the Sharonites. That victory made us Western Champs.

Girls' Basketball

Even if our girls' team did not win the county championship this year, neither did they allow the banner of Sharon's athletics to be trodden down in the race. It is a worthy feat to stand up as favorably as our sextet did against the stiff competition they encountered. Although the team did not have a strong foundation to build upon, several of our stars having graduated, they won eleven in a card of fourteen. These girls worked hard all season and they deserve a place with our championship boys' team. They lived up to Sharon's traditions by fighting on till the last moment, even though the odds were against them.

When the Farrell lassies defeated our six here, it was the first time since 1925 that the girls had been beaten on their home floor. That is a record seldom made. First the girls' basketball rose to great heights of fame back in 1926, and then our boys began to make a big name for themselves. Sharon enjoys a place above all her sister schools of this district. Yet the time of losing comes to every champion, and the way in which they take these losses brings out the true character of the players. After all, is victory the main consideration in sports, or is clean sportsmanship the admirable quality?

The Sharon sextet started off fast and took in six contests before they met their nemesis clad in the Blue and Gold of Farrell. The mill city team stopped them in a rousing thriller on the Farrell floor by the score of 25-21. Our old rivals, the Warrenites were easily defeated in both frays. The county teams did not present especially strong opposition, but the Steelers again won on the Sharon court to the tune of 32-16. That game clinched the county championship for the Farrell girls. Aliquippa and Salem both took one from us, but our lassies whipped the former team in the last game, which was another exciting night.

All in all, it was a great season. Our squad was a fine one, but Farrell's was just a little better. The Blue and Gold sextet was a mighty fast team, and a hard one for any squad to beat. It means a great deal to give a team like that such a fight as the Orange and Black did. The masterful way in which our girls took in the other frays proves their worth.

Anna May Leyson, captain this year, played a stellar game at guard and was put in as basket-getter several times.

Helen Bitenz and "tiny" Zvarich were her mates. They both did great work in making scoring difficult for the opposition.

Eva Conte was one of the county's best scorers. She was usually able to get around the opposing guards.

Rozella Heilman completed the forward section. She was a hard worker and a reliable player.

Elsie Fornander and "Dot" Burke made up our center force. One of these two could always be relied upon to play a fine game at her post and put in a good many baskets too.

Purdie and Robinson were reliable subs.

We cannot go without mentioning Sharon's supervising board, composed of the Coach, Miss Weller, and the manager, "Jo" O'Brien. They were vital factors in our team's success.

Review of Track

The 1929 track season marked the beginning of Coach Dave Stewart's mentorship of Sharon's activities in this sport. A large number of boys reported for practice in February, but due to the cold weather, many did not continue their running.

Mike Sebastian and Captain Arvid Biggin were the team's mainstays. Sebastion proved to be the star, winning a good place in many events. He was Sharon's only representative in the State meet at Bucknell, where he placed second in the broad jump.

The season was off to a rather discouraging start on April 24, when Rayen whipped us 70-52. However, in the meet at Geneva, Sebastian brought the Orange through to fourth place. Many neighboring schools competed in this meet, among them Grove City, Sharpsville, Ellwood City, and New Castle.

Sebastian again featured in the contests at Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, on May 4. In this meet, Jimmy Dunn, well known Grove City athlete, set a new mark for the high school javelin throw.

Sharon's Orange and Black runners came through for a 58-41 win over Sharpsville on the seventh. Biggin and Sebastian were the chief pointers on our team. At Alfred College, on the eleventh, Sharon come in fourth.

On May 18, in the sectional meet at Bradford, Sharon placed fifth. The stellar man in this contest was Bohlander of Grove City, who handed in a big surprise, winning several events. Then came the State meet at Bucknell.

The final chapter was the county meet. With Bohlander outstanding, Grove City won with 52 points. Sharon was second with 26.3 and Sharpsville came third with 18-1 points.

Although it was not a championship year, this season should be considered successful. Grove City always seems to be able to put it over on Sharon in track. Perhaps this is on account of the lusty braves who take part in the Grover's athletics. It is only reasonable to believe that the material is the big factor, for it is certainly good coaching, to a great extent, at least, that puts our football and basketball over so successfully.

The 1930 season training opned in March, with the enthusiasm of the students evidenced by their representation on the squad, and since only three of our veterans graduated, this should be a great year for track. Sharon will soon be a triple-threat school in athletics.

Fans should take more interest in track than they do. Although it is not as spectacular as either of the other sports, this contest does more to develop the participants than any other familiar sport.

The Power of Knowledge Cannot Be Disputed

Knowledge—knowing all about what you are doing, understanding everything there is to know about business activities—that is power. This store builds on power. Our buyers know their merchandise — they know values — they know systems of manufacture — they know markets. Best of all they know what the customer wants and when she will want it. It is only by constant vigilance, by open-mindedness, that they keep "in the know." That's how this store is able to give you the things you want at prices consistently low.

15 WORDS THAT TELL YOU MORE ABOUT A REFRIGERATOR THAN 1000 claims

OF THE HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF OWNERS not 1 HAS PAID A CENT FOR SERVICE

That is the amazing record of General Electric Refrigerators—made possible by an exclusive General Electric feature—the hermetically sealed permanently oiled mechanism on top. General Electric mechanism is so tightly sealed that dust and moisture, rust and trouble are forever shut outside.

Cost of operation is cut to but a few cents a day. And of the hundreds of thousands of owners—not one has paid a cent for service.

Think of this when you buy! Come in and see our attractive all-steel models—and let us tell you about our surprisingly easy terms.

NEW SUMMER WASH FABRICS

Thousands upon thousands of yards of imported and American colored dress fabrics in the very newest designs and color combinations for summer dresses.

Our fame in the past has been built upon the reputation for having the finest fabrics in the city. This season will find these traditions perpetuated. Never in any season have wash fabrics been more beautiful. There are new ideas in design and color; they give you a world of chance to achieve some very smart garments, making them from these materials. It will be a pleasure to show you these displays, and familiarize you with our helpfulness and our low prices.

TO succeed once may be a matter of luck. But when one distinctive and successful Annual "by Canton" is followed immediately by another—and another until they represent a continuous record of achievement, then it must mean "good marksmanship." Details of the successful Canton plan will gladly be given without obligation to any Annual editor, or manager, who is interested.
